Discount rate for eligible residential customers

nationalgrid

New York City

The Energy Affordability Program (EAP) assists income-eligible customers with managing home energy bills by providing a monthly bill discount. You may qualify for EAP if you receive benefits from the government assistance programs listed on the next page of the application.

There are three ways to enroll in the EAP program:

- Automatic — Customers receiving a posted Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP) payment on their National Grid account will be enrolled in EAP automatically.
- File match — Through a file match between National Grid and the State Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance (OTDA). The file match identifies customers in our service territory who have received a HEAP grant on another utility or fuel vendor account.
- Application — By applying via application and providing proof of participation in one of the other qualifying programs as shown on the next page.

How to see if you are already enrolled in EAP:

- If you are enrolled in EAP you will receive an EAP Enrollment Letter to provide additional details.
- Log into ngrid.com/myaccount to check your bill online or review your paper bill for the line highlighted.
